“Widespread” flu affecting Cherokee Community

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

Forty-eight (48) of the 50 states are experiencing “widespread” influenza (flu) activity for the week ending Saturday, Feb. 3 (the latest figures as of press time) according to the CDC. The N.C. Department of Health and Human Services reported that over 9 percent of outpatient visits for the week ending Feb. 3 were due to Influenza-Like Illness (ILI). Locally, the numbers aren’t in yet for February, but Cherokee Indian Hospital officials reported a total of 370 flu diagnoses for the month of January.

For the week ending Feb. 3, the North Carolina Division of Public Health reported a total of 140 total flu deaths since Oct. 1, 2017 and 34 in the week of Jan. 28 – Feb. 3, 2018.

According to the CDC, common flu symptoms include: a cough and/or sore throat, a runny or stuffy nose, headaches and body aches, chills, fatigue, nausea and/or vomiting, diarrhea, and a temperature over 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

“Cherokee Indian Hospital staff are working tirelessly to see every person in need of medical attention,” said Dr. Richard Bunio, CIHA executive clinical director. “We do encourage any patient who is ill to stay home until they have been without fever for at least 24 hours to help prevent further spread of the flu in this community. We are temporarily limiting visitors in the inpatient unit and the ER to help protect our patients and staff.”

CDC reports that the most common flu strain this season has been H3N2.

“The vaccine that we give is a quadrivalent which includes vaccine for four different strains,” said Sally Penick, CIHA infection control manager. “There are two B strains and two A strains, one of which is H3N2.”

She encourages everyone to get the flu shot. “Don’t risk it. The more people who get their flu vaccinations, the more it can help prevent spreading it to our children and to our elders.”

Earlier in the month, Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed issued a memo regarding the flu. “The best way to protect this community from the spread of this disease is for people to stay home when ill when advised by their doctor. This helps to protect those at highest risk for serious flu complications such as the very young and elderly.”

To help facilitate people staying at home, Chief Sneed authorized a temporary change to the EBCI tribal employees personnel policy stating “tribal employees needing to use sick leave will not be required to provide a doctor’s statement unless their absence exceeds five work days”. The normal time period is three work days.

The N.C. Division of Public Health states several ways to avoid getting the flu, “…get vaccinated each year and practice good hand hygiene. To avoid giving the flu to others, stay home when you are sick, cough or sneeze into tissues and discard them properly, and wash your hands frequently with soap and water or use an approved hand sanitizer if soap and water are not available.”

Principal Chief’s Report on USET, Washington trip

RICHARD G. SNEED
PRINCIPAL CHIEF

Last week, I traveled with members of Tribal Council to attend the USET conference in Washington, DC. My attendance at the conference was limited because our schedule for visiting congressional representatives was full. I was pleased to meet with many representatives who are aware of Indian issues and engaged with tribal Leaders.

The land-into-trust issue was a major focus for many of the meetings, and I believe we have support for this important legislation. We also met with the Bureau of Indian Affairs to work on other land-into-trust requests which seemed to have stalled. Those meetings were hopeful, and we expect some positive movement after those discussions.

Overall, these meetings are important to re-establish our leadership for Indian Country in Washington and to advance our issues to a level for immediate action. Tribal leadership is both the Executive Office and Tribal Council, and we can only benefit when we work together toward a common goal. I was also fortunate to attend the “Sovereignty” play at the Arena Theatre. Mary Katherine Nagel, a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, is the playwright and a legal advocate for tribal issues. The play explores Cherokee history and why our history is important to our status today. After the play, I joined others in a post discussion panel on sovereignty and how our Tribe protects and defends our sovereignty.

These types of events are important to educate a wider audience about our issues. The Arena Theatre often hosts legislative, judicial and academic leaders in the Washington, DC area. Those in the audience who influence tribal policies have one more opportunity to learn our history.

I was also honored to wear an 18th century jacket made by the wonderful ladies at Sew Tsa La Gi. Nancy, Johnny Ruth, and Charla are to be commended for their dedication to providing our community with historically-inspired attire. Their craftsmanship is top of the line. If you haven’t visited their shop yet, please stop by and see some of their wonderful work.

Many tribal leaders are again in Washington, DC this week for the National Congress of American Indians, and they will continue to discuss our issues with leadership. I did not attend this week because my son, Sam, is advancing in the North Carolina State Wrestling Championship along with Seth Sneed and Caden Pheasant. Also this week, the Lady Braves and the Varsity and JV Braves are playing in the Smoky Mountain Conference basketball tournament at Murphy. We also had tremendous success in the indoor track and field competition. Congratulations to Hallah Panther who placed 6th overall in pole vault. Best of luck to all the Braves!

Before a packed house in the Charles George Memorial Arena, the Cherokee Lady Braves (13-5) topped Murphy (21-2) on the evening of Monday, Feb. 5. With the win, Cherokee moves into a tie for first place in the Big Smoky Mountain Conference with the Lady Bulldogs.

“I thought we played really well,” said Chris Mintz, Lady Braves head coach. “We were composed. We came out on fire to start the game, and then we just kept rolling. We shot the ball well tonight. We handled the ball well.”

He praised his team’s tenacity. “They never quit and played hard in the fourth quarter. We stayed composed, and Murphy finally starting missing some shots and we were able to rebound them.”

Coach Mintz commented on the importance of the win. “This was huge for us with what it will mean going into the conference tournament and playoffs. To have a share of the conference title is huge.”

The Lady Braves were led by Tori Teesateskie with 20 points followed by Raylen Bark 19 and Deante Toineeta 14.

Cherokee came out for the third and built their lead to 51-42 a few minutes in. They led by as many as 12, but the Lady Bulldogs edged back in again and only trailed Cherokee 64-58 going into the fourth quarter.

The last quarter was tight until the last minute. Cherokee led 69-65 with just over three minutes left. Down the stretch, Murphy missed some inside shots and was forced to foul the Lady Braves as time waned. Cherokee led 71-65 with just over a minute left, and after hitting some key foul shots in the last minute were able to take the 76-67 win.

Other Cherokee scorers in the game included: Carla Wolfe 4, Naomi Smith 3, Shelby Wolfe 11, and Timiyah Brown 5. Murphy was led by Jessica Beckner with 30 points. She was joined by Sydni Addison 10, Aubrey Clapsaddle 9, Hailey Thompson 4, Kaiya Pickens 5, Brianna Moore 6, and Ellie Martin 3.

DRIVING: Cherokee’s Tori Teesateskie (#30) drives inside against Murphy’s Aubrey Clapsaddle during a game at the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Monday, Feb. 5. With 20 points, Teesateskie led Cherokee to a 76-67 win over the Lady Bulldogs.

Braves beat Murphy, remain unbeaten in Conference

The Cherokee Braves (15-3), who have already clinched the Big Smoky Mountain Conference regular season title, are still unbeaten in conference play as they beat Murphy 85-65 in a game at the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Monday, Feb. 5. A big second half helped lift the Braves over the Bulldogs (14-7).

“We didn’t practice Friday, and we came out a little flat,” said Aaron Hogner, Braves head coach. “It took us awhile to get into a groove, but you have nights like that in basketball – it’s such a long season. We had some good sides; some guys picked it up defensively. The first half, I think giving them two or three shots per possession was hurting us and allowed them to stay close. But we came out in the second half and took care of business.”

Cherokee was led by Tye Mintz with 21 points, 9 rebounds, and 2 steals followed by Justus Day with 20 points, 3 rebounds, and 3 assists.

The first half was close the entire way. Cherokee led 8-5 after three minutes in the first, but Murphy came back and grabbed an 11-10 lead with just over two minutes left. From there, the Braves went on a 6-1 run to lead 16-12 at the end of one.

The Braves led by seven (34-27), their biggest lead of the first half, with 3:25 left before the half. Murphy was able to cut into the lead a little and trailed Cherokee 41-38 at the half.

The third quarter was all Braves as they outscored Murphy 30-12. The first few minutes were still close though as Cherokee led by two (46-44) at the 5:53 mark. But, from there Cherokee went on a 9-2 run to lead 55-46 at the 3:49 mark.

Holden Straughan, Braves senior, hit a reverse layup with three minutes left in the third quarter to put Cherokee up by 11 (59-48) which was their first double digit lead of the night. They continued to build upon that lead extending it to 21 points (71-50) at the end of the third. Straughan finished the game with 15 points, 3 rebounds, 4 assists, and 1 steal.

Cherokee was able to get a lot of bench play in the fourth quarter and went on to take the 20-point win (85-65).

Other Cherokee player statistics included: Tihjah Lossiah 9 points, 2 rebounds; Karson Wildcat 2 points; Cade Mintz 2 points, 2 steals; Darius Lambert 3 points; Josiah Lossiah 4 points, 6 assists, 2 steals; Sterling Santa Maria 9 points, 5 rebounds, 4 assists, and 1 steal.

Murphy scorers included: Hagan Newton 9, Micah Nelson 9, Justice Dorsey 9, Tyler Simonds 2, Curt Brown 8, Dawson Grizzle 4, Alex Blount 3, Jeremiah Clark 6, and Abram Abling 15.

Coach Hogner said his team is ready for tournament and playoff games. “I think the guys feel good,” he noted. “It’s been a different season with the snow days and us getting started so late, so we haven’t really gotten into a regular schedule. So, us having a couple of days off to get ready for the tournament is really going to help these guys out.”

FINESSE: Cherokee’s Justus Day (#3) goes for a finger roll layup around Murphy’s Hagan Newton in a game at the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Monday, Feb. 5. With 20 points, 3 rebounds, and 3 assists, Day helped lead the Braves past Murphy 85-65.
Braves, Lady Braves finish regular season atop Conference

The Cherokee Braves (16-3) and Lady Braves (14-5) both finished their regular season atop the Big Smoky Mountain Conference. Following wins over Andrews at the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 6, the Braves won the Conference title outright, finishing their regular season perfect in conference play, and the Lady Braves shared the title with Murphy.

Both teams won big with the Lady Braves topping the Lady Wildcats 102-38 and the Braves winning 90-68.

Winning a share of the Conference means a lot to the team noted Coach Mintz. “To start out the season 2-4 and having people think we weren’t all that good, it’s been nice to prove to them and the doubt that they had. It’s been exciting.”

Tori Teesateskie, Lady Braves junior, led the way on Tuesday night with 23 points including five from three-point land. The night was also a milestone for her and Holden Straughan, Braves senior, who both hit the 1,000 point mark for their career. On the night, she also had 5 rebounds, 2 assists, and 4 steals.

Teesateskie said winning a share of the Conference title is “amazing”, but she noted it’s just the start. “We’re not done. We still have to work. We have a lot to work on, but I feel like we have a really good chance of going to state this year. We just have to keep working hard.”

The Lady Braves led the entire way on Tuesday. After jumping out to a 31-9 lead after the first quarter, they led 59-17 at the half. Due to their lead, the clock ran for the majority of the second half according to the NCHSAA mercy rule. Cherokee got a lot of bench play in the second half including a stellar performance from Jacee Smith who came on and scored 11 points including three three-pointers.

Other Lady Braves statistics included: Raylen Bark 2 pts, 5 assists, 4 steals; Carla Wolfe 13 pts, 5 rebounds, 2 steals; Naomi Smith 8 pts, 7 rebounds; Shelby Wolfe 14 pts, 10 rebounds; Deante Toineeta 18 pts, 3 assists; Kayleigh Wolfe 6 pts; and Timiyah Brown 7 pts, 2 rebounds, 2 assists.

For the game, the Lady Braves shot 47.4 percent from three-point land making 18 buckets.

Andrews scorers included: Paige Lind-
The Braves won their thirteenth in a row and shot 49.3 percent overall and 44.4 percent from three-point land. “It feels good,” Aaron Hogner, Braves head coach, said of winning the Conference regular season title. “I’m glad the guys got to enjoy it. It’s good for these guys. Three coaches in three years, that’s got to be tough on them mentally, but for them to come out and do what they’re doing is really special and shows a lot of character about who they are and their maturity.”

In the past few weeks, Coach Hogner said his team has been improving on the court each day and each game. “We’ve been working on scrambling more on defense and buying into that. We’re going to be a lot smaller than the teams down state – Lincoln Charter, Winston-Salem Prep – if we meet up with them so we’re really going to have to use our speed and do little things differently to disrupt their offense.”

Straughan led Cherokee with 30 points, 2 rebounds, 3 assists, and 3 steals.

The game started closer than it ended with the Braves grabbing a 23-16 lead after the first quarter and leading by 11 points (40-29) at the half. But, another big third quarter for the Braves (32 points) put them up to stay as they were able to go on for the big 90-66 win.

Other Braves statistics included: Tihjah Lossiah 9 pts, 1 steal; Tye Mintz 14 pts, 10 rebounds, 5 assists, 2 steals; Karson Wildcat 2 pts, 2 rebounds; Justus Day 9 pts, 3 rebounds; Josiah Lossiah 7 pts, 2 rebounds, 4 assists, 3 steals; Tino Pete 2 pts, 2 rebounds; Matthew Climbingbear 5 pts; Isaiah Evans 3 pts; and Sterling Santa Maria 9 pts, 3 steals.

Andrews scorers included: Tucker Holloway 10, Matt Barton 6, Kabe Ellis 14, Cody Mathis 2, Landon White 6, Eric Maemle 4, Dillian Phillips 18, Bryson Holloway 3, and Xavier Rattler 5.
Milestone achieved

Straughan, Teesateskie hit 1,000 pt. milestone on same night

Two Cherokee varsity basketball players hit career milestones on the same evening. Holden Straughan, Braves senior, and Tori Teesateskie, Lady Braves junior, both scored the 1,000th point of their career during games against Andrews at the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 6. After hitting their milestone, the respective games were paused and each was presented with a commemorative basketball at half court.

“It’s amazing,” Teesateskie noted following the game. “If it wasn’t for my teammates, my family, and my friends, I wouldn’t have done this at all. If it wasn’t for me staying in the gym long hours, my dad helping me, other coaches coming to help me, then I wouldn’t have scored my thousandth point.”

She added, “I just want to be a role model to little kids. I love helping with little kids.”

During halftime of the boys game, Teesateskie dedicated the basketball she was given for hitting the 1,000 point mark to the memory of the late Sam Taylor, long-time coach who passed away in September 2017. She wrote a letter for the occasion which was read to the crowd by Shawn Crowe, Braves announcer. “Sam was a great mentor, coach, role model, and most importantly, a guiding friend. His constant encouragement about my shooting, even on my off nights, telling me to flick my wrist, gave me the confident to be the player I am today. Sam Taylor has always been one of the most loyal Lady Braves fans.”

On the milestone, Straughan commented, “It feels pretty good. I know that my momma did it, and now I’ve done it. So, it feels really good.”

Playing basketball since he was four years old, Straughan said, “I knew that if I worked hard that I would get somewhere good. I kind of figured I would reach this goal knowing that my momma did it too.”

Holden’s mother, Pam Straughan, a member of the Cherokee basketball 1,000 point club herself, commented on her son’s achievement, “It’s awesome. I’m very proud of him. It makes me feel good that he played at the same high school that I did and to make that achievement.”

Both Straughan and Teesateskie were named to the All-Smoky Mountain Conference teams for the 2016-17 season. Incidentally, both also led their teams in scoring on Tuesday night with Straughan having 30 points, including seven three-pointers, and Teesateskie having 23 points, five of which were from three-point land.
ON THE SIDELINES

You honor Mr. Kinsland by honoring yourself

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

During a home basketball game in the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 6, Ray Kinsland was recognized for his 59 years of service to the Cherokee community and especially Cherokee Central Schools athletics. Over the years, he has been honored for his expansive service to the community including being named an honorary member of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and given the Cherokee name Di-sde-li-sgi-a-ni-wi which translates as "Helper of Young Men".

At one time, two stadiums were named for him...one was torn down, so, now there's only one. In 2011, I covered Kinsland's retirement luncheon after 53 years as general manager of the Cherokee Boys Club. During that event, then-State Rep. Phil Haire presented him with a Certificate of Appreciation from the North Carolina General Assembly.

In addition, he has been named to the states' Order of the Long Leaf Pine, has received the Citizen of the Year Award from the Steve Youngdeer American Legion Post 143, has received the Frell Owl Award, and has received the NCHSA Unsung Hero Award. Last year, the Ray Kinsland Leadership Institute opened to serve as an umbrella organization for the Right Path Adult Leadership Program, the Cherokee Youth Council, and the Jones-Bowman Leadership Award Program.

Kinsland is a humble man and never asks for recognition. For years, he has offered a prayer and encouraging words before each football and basketball game. The key phrase there is encouraging words.

Following being honored for 57 years of service a few years ago, he wrote a thank you letter to the community that we printed in the One Feather where he stated, "I love every one of you, and I am both humbled and thankful for you allowing my family and me to live and serve with this beloved people in this sacred homeland."

That statement sums up his feelings. It also lays the groundwork of how best to honor him. As a humble man, Kinsland appreciates the awards and recognitions he has received, but he doesn’t expect them and that certainly isn’t why he has served the community for so long.

On the sidelines, too many times to count, I’ve heard him encourage the players not only to play hard, but, more importantly, to believe in themselves and to play as a team, a community, and a nation. I have also heard him countless times encourage the young students in their educational pursuits as well as encourage them to serve their community and Tribe.

Prior to the games this past Tuesday when Kinsland was recognized, the Cherokee players went to him and shook his hand, gave him hugs, and gave him words of encouragement like he has given to them so many times before.

It was a true testament to the impact he has had on the community and the Tribe. As each player showed their respect to Kinsland, they also showed their respect to the community and the Tribe. By growing up to be fine young men and women, full of respect for each other and themselves, they honor him. You honor him by honoring yourself.

Kinsland always has a good sense of humor, and there is hardly a time when I speak with him that he doesn’t tell me a joke or a witty saying – something I’ve come to really look forward to over the decades. My favorite one is one of the first ones he ever told me, and I’ll share it here. Never start a fight with a newspaper unless you have a bigger newspaper. That one always got me.

HELPER: Ray Kinsland (center) was recognized prior to the varsity basketball games at the Charles George Memorial Arena on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 6 for his 59 years of involvement with Cherokee Central Schools and specifically its athletic programs. He is shown with his daughter, Debora Foerst (left), Cherokee High School principal, and his wife, Jerri.

Five athletes at Cherokee High School signed letters of intent to play college sports on National Signing Day. Four members of the Cherokee Braves 1A State Championship football team and one member of the Lady Braves basketball team signed during a ceremony held in the Charles George Memorial Arena on the afternoon of Wednesday, Feb. 7.

The following signed on Wednesday: Tye Mintz, Kennesaw State University; Holden Straughan, Lenior-Rhyne University; Zak Perez, Mars Hill University; Demetryus Bradley, Mars Hill University; and Shelby Wolfe, Gardner-Webb University.

“We’re so proud of the commitment these young men have made to put themselves in an opportunity to play at the next level.” Kent Briggs, Braves head football coach, said of his four players. “It is very challenging to do that and takes a lot of support from their families, coaches, and the biggest thing is their desire to do that. I feel very proud that they’ve had confidence and have believed in themselves enough to take the next step.”

Chris Mintz, Lady Braves head basketball coach, commented on Wolfe’s signing. “She has a chance to go play at a great school like Gardner-Webb and fulfill her dream. In seventh grade, she started playing and that’s what she wanted to do. She worked hard, and now she’s going to get a chance to go play college basketball.”

Deborah Foerst, Cherokee High School principal, addressed the crowd during Wednesday’s signing. “This is a historic day for Cherokee High School. We have five students signing, all in one day; that’s never happened before, and we are blessed. We are blessed that these students chose Cherokee High School as their educational choice, and we’re blessed that they have athletic talent that they chose to build here as Braves and Lady Braves. We thank you, the parents, for all of your support of your students and the school for the past four years.”

Tye Mintz, Braves senior quarterback and safety, ended his career as Cherokee’s all-time total offensive leader. His senior season, he completed 111 of 191 passes for 2,085 yards and 18 TDs and rushed the ball 194 times for 1,803 yards and 34 TDs. On defense, he had 48 solo tackles, five tackles for loss, and four interceptions.

“It feels pretty surreal,” he said. “I never thought that I would make it this far; probably at a smaller school, but I never thought that I would make it to this level. Words can’t really describe how I feel right now about playing at Kennesaw…I just want to thank my team and my coaches for pushing me through and keeping me going. I can’t wait to set foot on Kennesaw.”

They were joined by Dewight Winchester who signed at Lees-McRae College for cycling.

“Tribal members had the opportunity to sign letters of intent, and I wanted to share that with everyone,” said Jeff Marr, Swain coach. “I know them all very well, and it makes me so proud. As a coach, to know that they’re going to be able to further their career and go on to college and represent the maroon and white of Swain County High School. Tribal member glad to be home

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

After spending nearly three decades in the Pacific Northwest, Frank Dunn is happy to be home on the Qualla Boundary. Having been back in Cherokee full-time for a few months, Dunn, an EBCI tribal member of the Wolf Clan, is currently building a home in the Hyatt Cove area of the Woltown Community.

Frank grew up in the Big Cove Community and graduated from Swain County High School. After his wife became pregnant with their first son, the two moved to Washington state near his parents. “I lived out there and raised my whole family out there.”

While there, Frank worked in various jobs including a 10-year stint as the communications director for the Swinomish Tribal Community in La Conner, Wash. which was followed by four years as the communications specialist for the National Native Arts & Cultures Foundation in Vancouver, Wash. A longtime magician, Frank started the Dunn Talent LLC in April 2013 and serves as its marketing director and illusionist in a magic theatre show.

Education has always been a key in Frank’s life. Following graduation from Swain County, he studied radio and broadcasting at Southwestern Community College. While in the northwest, he earned his bachelor’s degree in psychology in 1998 from Western Washington University in Bellingham, Wash.

His son’s graduation from college spurred yet more education for Frank. “My son graduated with his bachelor’s, and when he graduated, I got up and said my values are God, family, and education. My dad said, ‘well, if education is so important to you, then why aren’t you in school?’”

So, Frank went back to school to work on his master’s degree. and, in December 2017, he achieved that goal by earning his master’s in business administration, with an emphasis in finance, marketing, and economic development, from Western Washington University. “It was very monumental. When you’re the only Indian in a class with a lot of non-Indians, I feel like sometimes I have to prove myself, and that’s been the story of my life living off the reservation…I feel like I have to prove myself and work harder to show them that I’m not the stereotype and break all of those stereotypes.”

He added, “I’m a big believer in education, and it’s never too late to go back. I’m a lifelong learner.”

It was during this time that he began to think of coming back to Cherokee. “When I started looking at opportunity such as free health care, free dental with no co-pays, free fitness center, and the programs to provide and assist for housing, it’s a no-brainer. This is where I should be.”

He shared his thoughts and plans with his family on Thanksgiving Day 2016. His wife, Margie, was hired with the Cherokee Family Safety Program in February 2017, and his son, Frankie, and his wife, Alyssa, now work at Harrah’s Cherokee Casino Resort as a gaming host and cage cashier respectively.

Frank noted, “There’s opportunity here if you’re willing to work and show up on time with a good work ethic. The cost of living is lower.”

Frank’s daughter, Jazlyn, is a student at Cherokee High School and has a job lined up for the summer with the Oconaluftee Indian Village. “She feels at home.”

He said it has been nice to walk into a restaurant or store and see other Native people. “I’m happy to be home. There’s something deep here.”

Plus, there are the memories.

“I have memories of fishing in Santeetlah Lake with my grandfather, the late John Walkingstick, and riding in his truck and him telling me, ‘that’s Rattlesnake Mountain’, and then thinking, as a little kid, ‘wow, that’s where all the rattlesnakes live’.”

He recalls having his first Big Mac while riding to Asheville with his uncle, John Ed Walkingstick, and his first job at the old Dairy Queen which was located where the Harrah’s Cherokee casino parking lot is now.

“I’m excited to come back to Cherokee.”
CONSTRUCTION: Despite some wintery weather, construction on the new Multi-Tainment Center at Harrah’s Cherokee Valley River Casino & Hotel carried on, full steam ahead in January.

Structural concrete was completed during the first two weeks of January. Detailing work on the structural steel was also completed by the end of the month.

The completion of so many foundational trades onsite has also brought additional contractors on site. In mid-January, the roofing contractor arrived onsite and has successfully installed 70 percent of their work by Jan. 31. Their work is scheduled for completion mid-February and will pave the way for the delivery of rooftop mechanical units.

The framing contractor also arrived. With the innovative use of prefabricated panels, they have successfully framed 90 percent of the exterior walls on the main building. The remaining 10 percent at the front entrance will be completed the first week of February.

The plumbing contractor has prepped roof-top drainage.

The electrical contractor began connecting existing casino power lines to the new building. To date, they have completed 80 percent of this work. The electrical contractor has also continued to perform underground work for exterior systems such as the Computerized Valet Parking System (CVPS) and the 24 Tesla charging stations in both the casino guest public parking and valet parking lots.

The last week of January brought in the first overhead activities with sprinkler installation. By Jan. 31, they installed approximately 25 percent of the main sprinkler lines. Upcoming, you will also start seeing the exterior walls make the transformation from exterior wall sheathing, to air barrier, and finally the early beginnings of the finishes of the exterior walls.

Lights: Have you ever wondered who makes Cherokee look like Christmas? K&D Services takes special care to place the Tribe’s lights and light displays to maximum effect for both tourists and the local community. They ensure that the displays are fully lit and maintained throughout the holiday season. The crew decorates eight tribal buildings and three of Cherokee’s heavily traveled bridges, erects 42 roadside lighted scenes, and hangs 210 lighted pole ornaments. The team also constructed and decorated a skating rink, and 22 light and cultural displays at the Cherokee Indian Fairgrounds. They also assembled the tribal Christmas tree, a 40-foot synthetic tree with lights near the Cherokee Welcome Center. The installation team was headed by Buddy and Jewel Fischer. Loving the land, water, and wind

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

W

e are blessed to live in some of the most beautiful land in the world. Next to our people, it is our most valuable and cherished resource. The Qualla Boundary consists of our 56,000 acres of real estate, held in federal trust for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians. Long before there was a “federal”, many Cherokee people made their home here in what is now known as the western North Carolina mountains.

Cherokee relationship and respect for the land, water, and air are legendary. It has been a spiritual affair for our people. Our stories and legends are filled with references to plants and animals, and the powers of the wind, water, and soil. We have loved the lands provided by the Creator since anyone can remember and before there were documents of history.

If you speak with an elder, you will hear that love come out in the stories of their childhoods. Our grandmothers and grandfathers lived in a time when it was important to preserve, taking from the land only what was needed for survival. We were not people of excess. Good living was having enough to eat, a warm, dry place to sleep, and a safe place to raise a family. There was joy in personal relationship with family and community.

For good and bad, times change. European influence and “civilization” brought cultural changes that caused many to stop loving the land and start lasting after the products of the land. Over time, we have lost much of the reverence we had for the land, water, wind, and, for that matter, the Creator. We no longer take what we need. We take what we want, regardless of the long-term consequences to our environment or to those in our family and community. Ignoring the warning of our ancestors, and return to our love of land, water, and wind.

Several years ago, the Junaluska Youth Council started a recycling drive to get us, as a government and community, to focus on renewable resources and conservation. They provided recycling materials and held education forums. They distributed literature to train us up on how to help the environment. They made a valiant effort to move us to think before we used and responsibly reused. They got through to some of us.

Some offices still have the blue recycling trash cans left over from that drive. But, most of us don’t pay any attention to them. If you examine many of those bins, you will find non-recyclable and recyclables thrown in together. In fact, inside the Council House, there are trash bins with a top that has holes with different markings for “trash” and “recyclables” that have no dividers in them. No matter which hole you throw your trash in, it goes into the same bag. The EBCI Sanitation Department still carries the bulk of the load when it comes to recycling efforts on the Boundary, separating what they can at the collection centers.

Over the years, we have witnessed oil and gas spills from old leaking gas station tanks, sewage spills from overflows, and degradation from erosion and neglect. There are old buildings and signs that rust and rot into the ground, taking away from the beautiful of our land and damaging our ability to generate life-sustaining revenue for people, present and future.

We cannot talk love of environment and not show it. Our actions speak louder than our words. It is up to each of us to make this a better place to live. We must honor the wisdom and sacrifices of our elders. Saying we honor them and then not heeding their wisdom is, in fact, dishonor. We are deceiving them and ourselves. The Cherokee people, against the odds and suffering great adversity, held on to this great land we call the Qualla Boundary. We have not just survived. We have thrived. We are a great people and a strong economic power. We will continue to be so if we will only remember the teachings of our ancestors, and return to our love of land, water, and wind.

What is Kanwotiyi?
Kanwotiyi is a substance abuse residential treatment center for adults, both men and women, suffering from addiction who need extra help to start their recovery journey.

1. Don’t we have access to other residential treatment centers?
The community has used several residential treatment programs over the years, but there are often long waits to get into these programs, and many are far from Cherokee.

2. What is the average length of stay at Kanwotiyi and why?
Our goal for all patients who seek recovery from addiction is to complete at least one year of active treatment, which may include detox at Cherokee Indian Hospital, Kanwotiyi, supportive housing and outpatient support. The length of stay at Kanwotiyi is flexible according to patient need, but the most patients will graduate from the program in about 42 days.

3. What does the treatment plan for patients consist of?
The schedule at Kanwotiyi is filled from morning to night with activities that have been shown to be effective with addiction recovery. A typical day includes up to 4 hours of group and individual therapy plus work unit time. Kanwotiyi emphasizes treating the “whole person”, with a focus on healing traumas, addressing mental health issues, Cherokee culture, work, education and family involvement.

4. Has Kanwotiyi begun accepting patients yet?
Kanwotiyi admitted its first patient on January 22, 2018, and as of February 9, we have 7 patients.

5. What happens after a patient “graduates” from Kanwotiyi?
Many patients will have supportive families, jobs, school and other responsibilities to return to. However, patients who do not have a safe place to live, or who are not ready to maintain abstinence in the community, will receive ongoing housing support. There are plans to build both men’s and women’s homes soon. Until these are in place, we will continue to refer individuals to outside residential support programs.

6. What is the main difference between Kanwotiyi and the proposed Crisis Stabilization Unit?
Kanwotiyi is an unlocked facility which serves patients on a voluntary basis, which can include patients who are involved in the court system. Kanwotiyi cannot safely serve individuals who need inpatient nursing care, who are suicidal, or who are not medically or psychiatrically stable. The Crisis Stabilization Unit will be a locked facility to serve patients, including involuntary commitments, who need detox or psychiatric inpatient treatment in a secure setting.
