Council discusses election law changes in work session

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

Tribal Council had a work session on Monday, July 23 with the EBCI Attorney General and EBCI Election Board regarding proposed changes to the Cherokee Code. Interim Attorney General Michael McConnell referenced Ordinance 173-2018 Section 161-3 regarding qualifications for office, starting with how to determine someone’s residence.

Subsection G, new paragraph, includes the language that the candidate must live on trust land and must reside on it at least most of the time. “Reside” will be defined as “overnights” at the residence.

Denise Ballard, Chairwoman of the Election Board, concurred with Painttown Rep. Tommye Saunooke that her opinion is that any candidate should live on the Boundary “100 percent of the time” during the discussion.

McConnell presented the idea of giving the Election Board the option to consider “excuses” for late reporting. The changes also recommend detailed campaign contributions information, including name of the contributor, amount, and date of contribution. It is also proposed that a candidate may “loan” his or her campaign personal funds and reimburse themselves if there is money left over in the campaign fund at the end of the campaign. There would also be an option of paying back donors or giving to charity with the unused portion of the campaign fund. McConnell said that he removed a proposed provision that would transfer any leftover campaign funds to the Election Board, because some found it objectionable. He did not specify who found it objectionable. There was some discussion of a $250 per donor or contribution “cap” that would need some “tightening up” to prevent side-stepping of the ordinance.

McConnell also discussed language that would reinforce existing Code that states campaign contributions may not be accepted that violate existing law, and candidates may not make promises of personal gain to someone who makes contributions for a specified, personal purpose, or trading political favors for contributions to a campaign. The Tribal Council discussed the 2 percent rule for recounts, recommending a clarification of the language.

Language specific to run-off elections was read for consideration. “A run-off election is defined to mean any election held subsequent to the election at issue for which the run-off election is held to resolve a tie between two candidates, or is held because the Board of Elections has determined in response to a timely filed protest and after conducting research and investigation, that irregularities in the conduct of the election rendered the results contrary to tribal law and/or unreliable.”

Proposed language to be added to the Code includes a clarification of the process for filling vacancies in the Vice Chief seat. The proposal states that if the Vice Chief seat is vacated for any reason, “Council shall elect a successor from the current Tribal Council representatives, no later than the next regularly scheduled Tribal Council session after the vacancy occurs”.

Ballard said that the fastest that a special election would be mounted and executed would be 90 days and that there was some concern that leaving the Executive Committee in a non-functioning state would not be good for governance.

Tribal Council Chairman Adam Wachacha said that there would be more discussions on proposed changes to the election laws would happen as the community considered these changes and how they might relate to a tribal constitution, which is also under consideration. He stated that he would like to meet to work on these changes approximately every two weeks until they are ready for Tribal Council consideration for approval.

Council discusses proposed changes to Ethics Ordinance in work session

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

In an effort to strengthen the ethics policies of the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians, the Tribe’s Audit and Ethics Committee is proposing several changes to the existing Code of Ethics encoded in the Cherokee Code Article IV, Section 117.45. The Office of Internal Audit and Ethics, charged along with the Audit and Ethics Committee with enforcing the Code of Ethics, submitted Ord. No. 174 (2018) in April. A work session was held on the table ordinance’s proposed changes on Monday, July 23.

Sharon Blankenship, EBCI Office of Internal Audit & Ethics manager, led the discussion on Monday and worked with Council line-by-line on the proposed changes.

Several changes discussed in Sec. 117-45.1 (Definitions) including adding people seeking elected office as well as those who have already been elected as “tribal officials” who must abide by the Code of Ethics. It also adds a subsection which states, “Except that tribal officials shall not include Tribal Court officials provided that the Tribal Court adopts a Code of Ethics approved by the Office of Internal Audit and Ethics.”

Tribal Council Chairman Adam Wachacha commented on that subsection, “I know when we talk about tribal officials, it refers to all elected officials and none of them are elected, they’re appointed.”

The next section discussed was Sec. 117-45.3 (Code of Ethics) section (b) which already states, “No tribal official or any member of their immediate family shall solicit or accept gratuities, favors, or anything of monetary value from contractors, potential contractors, or subcontractors who are contracting to perform services or sell goods or property to the Tribe or a tribal program.”

The proposed change to this section would add at the end, “This provision shall not prohibit ordinary gifts between family members, provided they are in accordance with the rules established by the Office of Internal Audit and Ethics.”

Painttown Rep. Tommye Saunooke posed a scenario for discussion, “What if the contractor is my brother?”

Blankenship replied, “If you’re accepting the gift from the contractor, you shouldn’t be able to do that, but if you’re just accepting a gift from your brother, that’s ok.”

Rep. Saunooke then asked, “But, how do you differentiate?”

Blankenship said, “It would depend on the nature and the reason for the gift exchange...it would require judgment, and on a case-by-case basis we would have to review it.”

Chairman Wachacha proposed another possible scenario, “Let’s say we’re having a groundbreaking and one of the contractors is there and they’re giving out goodie bags and they receive the reward (contract). This is basically saying that we can’t receive anything.”

Blankenship said, “That’s correct.”

“We’re asking that tribal officials file with our office so we know who all tribal officials are other than the elected officials because they’re a lot of appointments who are also considered tribal officials.”

- Sharon Blankenship, EBCI Office of Internal Audit & Ethics manager discussing a proposed change to the Tribe’s Ethics Ordinance

Blankenship then read a proposed change to Sec. 117-45.3(c) which would replace the existing language to the following, “No tribal official shall enter into any contract for providing services or goods to any tribal entity, enterprise, or program. This provision does not prevent a tribal official from receiving from a tribal entity, enterprise, or program services or goods on the same term offered to any tribal member.”

Chairman Wachacha noted, “That’s pretty broad. That basically entitles a tribal official to any good or service that anyone else is entitled to?”

Blankenship replied, “That’s correct, and that was the conversation of if you went and purchased goods from the Cherokee Boys Club, would you be able to do that under this provision? That’s why it was requested that we bring back language so that you would be able to purchase goods from the Cherokee Boys Club.”

Among the proposed changes to the ordinance is the addition of a new section, Sec. 117.45-4 (Attestation and Disclosure). Blankenship explained, “We’re asking that tribal officials file with our office so we know who all tribal officials are other than the elected officials because they’re a lot of appointments who are also considered tribal officials.”

Under that proposed section, all tribal officials would be required to file an Attestation and Disclosure Statement “upon election or appointment and no later than October 1 of every year thereafter” or face a $250 fine.

Cherokee Co. – Snowbird Rep. Bucky Brown asked if the Audit and Ethics Committee would be willing to visit each community and answer questions relating to the Code of Ethics to which Blankenship said she would schedule those visits.

At the end of the work session, Michael McConnel, EBCI interim attorney general, noted, “I sit on the Ethics Committee as a non-voting member so I am really familiar with this. I have talked with the Committee and the outside attorney that the Ethics Committee works with who is the primary author, and I agree with what’s on the page.”

Tabled Ord. No. 174 is scheduled as Item #3 on the Tribal Council agenda for Thursday, Aug. 2.
Bogus group caught running a casino

N.C. ALE arrests “Sovereign Citizens” in Robeson County for illegal casinos

(Editor’s Note: The group is neither a North Carolina state-recognized tribe nor a federally recognized tribe.)

LAURINBURG – Members of a group who identify themselves as the “Tuscarora Nation” faced charges Monday, July 23 of gambling, manufacturing controlled substances, and money laundering at illegal casinos in Maxton, Pembroke, and Red Springs. Vehicles, currency, marijuana, firearms and more than 200 illegal gaming machines were seized during the raids.

More than 26 people were arrested following a year-long multi-agency investigation that found the group operating three illegal casinos, an unlicensed police force, and an indoor marijuana grow with multiple outdoor grows. The group was also making threats of war against law enforcement.

“Citizens living near the casinos complained of the illegal activity taking place and notified law enforcement,” said Terrance Merriweather, head of N.C. Alcohol Law Enforcement, the agency that executed Monday’s search warrants. “This group openly expressed beliefs that neither the laws of North Carolina nor the United States applied to them, putting law-abiding citizens in danger. We hope today’s arrests provide a safer community for them.”

The Robeson County Sheriff’s Office, the U.S. Department of Homeland Security Investigations and the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives worked with ALE on the year-long operation.

The casinos had one-arm bandit, Pot of Gold, and other illegal gambling machines housed in blacked-out buildings with no clocks. The casinos operated 24 hours a day, seven days a week and all had heavily-armed security who were not only unlicensed, but using blue lights in their trucks.

Those arrested include, Kendall Locklear; his son, Kendrick; the armed personnel at the casinos and other casino employees. Robert Chavis was arrested for two stolen guns.

“Most of the offenders arrested today were considered to be armed and dangerous and many have criminal records,” said Robeson County Sheriff Kenneth Sealey. “People living in those towns were scared of the activities taking place around the casinos. At the end of the day, this operation is all about community betterment.”

The casinos are located at 1345 Modest Road, Maxton; 129 Nancy Lane, Pembroke; and 1521 Opal Road, Red Springs.

In addition to the law enforcement agencies named above, others participated in today’s arrests including the Lumberton, Maxton, Red Springs Police departments; the State Bureau of Investigation; the North Carolina and Virginia National Guard; campus police from the University of North Carolina at Pembroke; Department of Public Safety K-9 unit; Division of Motor Vehicles License and Theft Bureau; U.S. Customs and Border Protection; Cumberland County Sheriff’s Office; and Hoke County Sheriff’s Office.

This is an on-going investigation.

The following people were arrested for felonious operate, allow to be operated and keep in possession of illegal slot machines; and gambling: Kendall Locklear, 57; Dustin Ray Godwin, 30; Fredrick La Carl Hawkins, 45; Kendrick Locklear, 21; Timothy Wayne Oxendine, 46; Jazmin Shaiynne Scott, 21; Salena Latchrisa Locklear, 20; Torri Alexs Locklear, 24; Timothy Jacobs, 50; Jeffrey Ingram, 50; Keaton Oxendine, 24; Billy Ray Oxendine, 48; Wedford Jones Jr., 43; Jerry Oxendine, 59; Edith Oxendine, 55; Miranda Jo Dial, 30; Gloria Dial, 56; Robert Chavis, 62; Derena Chavis, 52; Felicia Campbell, 46; Dustin Warriax, 48; Richard Sampson, 44; Marcus Bullard, 19; Tonya Collins, 37; Edward Locklear, 33; and Jeremy Lee Jones, 44.

Partnership aiding book bag program for Cherokee youth

SCOTT MCKIE B.P.
ONE FEATHER STAFF

A partnership between the Cherokee Community Club Council and the Office of the Principal Chief is helping provide school supplies and book bags for young EBCI students.

“This is a collaborative effort and partnership with the community clubs,” said Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed. “Our office will provide half of the supplies and bags, and the Community Club Council has agreed to provide the other half in an effort to make sure that all Cherokee youth are provided for. Our purpose in conducting the book bag drive this year in this manner is to strengthen the mission of the community clubs.”

In all, 720 Urban Sport 18-inch U-Pocket backpacks have been purchased as well as 648 school supply kits which will include the following: four double pocket folders in assorted colors, two one-subject spiral notebooks in assorted colors, one composition notebook, one pencil pouch (available in assorted colors), one 12-inch ruler (available in assorted colors), one pack of four pens (blue and black), one pack of four colored pencils, one pack of four pencils, one blunt-tip scissors, four erasers, two glue sticks, one pack of five crayons, one dome sharpener (available in assorted colors), and three highlighters (available in assorted colors).

Big Cove and Tow String held their distribution days earlier this week. The remaining Community Clubs will distribute book bags and supplies on the following dates:
- Big Y: Monday, Aug. 6 at 6pm at Big Y Gym
- Birdtown: Thursday, Aug. 2 at 5pm at Birdtown Gym
- Cherokee County: Monday, Aug. 13 at 4pm at Cherokee County Community Building
- Snowbird: Thursday, Aug. 9 at 6pm at Snowbird Center
- Wolftown: Thursday, Aug. 2 at 5pm at Wolftown Gym
- Yellowhill: Monday, Aug. 6 at 5pm at Yellowhill Activity Center
- Painttown: No date has been provided

Community members are appreciating the collaboration.

“Our community of Big Y has actually been giving out school supplies for several years before the initiative came up with the Chief’s office, so we were happy to see this program started,” said Trudy Crowe, Big Y Community Club.

“With the additional resources we are able to ensure that every child who needs a book bag and supplies in our community receive them. We also increased the supplies that we are able to give out so that all youth start to school with everything that they need. This partnership makes it easier for smaller communities like Big Y to do more for families. Our community does fund raisers throughout the year for events like this, and this helps us out tremendously with some of the financial burden.”

She went on to say, “We want the families and students of our community to know that a community is more than just the location of your home. It is a support system for families.”

Tammy Jackson, Wolftown Community Club, said the program is very beneficial in her community as well. “The school supply initiative gives the children the tools to help them be successful in the classroom and also boosts their self-esteem by being prepared with the same materials as their peers. When we first started doing this, we wanted to help parents who needed assistance purchasing supplies for their child or children and we gave out 45 bags. Today, that number has tripled. Our partnership with the Chief’s office helps offset the costs for the community clubs to have this event and it creates a good working relationship with the Chief and his staff. We are very grateful for the effort they put into doing this for our communities.”

CULLOWHEE – The University of North Carolina Board of Governors has appointed Casey Cooper, chief executive officer of Cherokee Indian Hospital, to fill an unexpired term on the Board of Trustees at Western Carolina University.

The action came during the Board of Governors meeting Friday, July 27, in Chapel Hill.

Cooper, who has been involved in American Indian health care for 25 years, is a member of the WCU Board of Visitors and recently served on the search committee tasked with identifying a successor for the university’s late chancellor, David O. Belcher.

Cooper is filling a vacancy created by the departure of board member Gaither M. Keener, former chief legal counsel for Lowe’s Companies Inc., who stepped down from his board position earlier this year for medical reasons.

“WCU has been and will continue to be one of the most significant strategic partners for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and the region of Western North Carolina,” Cooper said. “Community and economic development, as well as the prosperity of future generations, will be determined by the quality of our workforce, the development of creative and intellectual capital, and most importantly, the compassion and consciousness of our humanity. As such, the continued success of WCU is paramount to the region and I will be honored to serve as a trustee.”

A graduate of Gardner-Webb University, Cooper holds a master’s degree in business administration from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and is a Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives.

He has served the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and its community since 1993 as a primary care nurse, community health nurse, nurse educator and nursing manager. As health director of the EBCI from 1999 to 2004, he helped shape public health policy with a focus on chronic disease prevention and led a communitywide initiative to assume the management responsibilities of Cherokee Indian Hospital from the Indian Health Services through an Indian Self-Determination Agreement.

Cooper’s appointment on the WCU board is effective through June 30, 2021.

Cherokee Gardener’s Journal
A woman’s got to know her limitations
JODY BRADLEY

So I’m getting older. Who’s not? My life changes every day in many ways. These days, I realize I need to slow down, take a break and smell the roses, or in my case, “deck time!”

I remember working in my garden for hours with no impact on my body or my mind. I would stay out until dark totally absorbed in reviving and beautifying a piece of earth. It was endless pleasure. Those days are past. Nowadays, my plan is a good hour of work followed by a 30-minute rest. I am still tired at the end of the day.

I’ve decided there’s a “work” gene in our DNA. The gene dictates how hard you will work. My brother has it. He works from dusk to dawn and falls asleep in an easy chair. He has done this since he was five. At a young age, he would go from the potato field to the tobacco house and never skip a beat. Today, he works three jobs.

My sister has the gene. She will weed eat with a head light on until the work is finished. Even while taking chemotherapy she never stopped.

My mom has the gene. We moved her to stop the work in her big garden. She still insists on planting a garden in the rocks on Wrights Creek.

I consider myself infinitely smarter than all of them. (I write with a smile on my face). I consider myself smarter because I know my limitations. I know when to stop, sit down on the deck and enjoy the fruits of my labors - deck time.

Now don’t get me wrong, I am a hard worker, but if you don’t stop, sit down, breathe, and relax, then what’s the point?

I know my limitations and I don’t think God will ask for my time sheet when I go through the pearly gates. I think, no I believe, he will say, “How about that sunset? What did you think about those red dahlias? How about the view from that mountain top? Did you see that Soco waterfall?”

How about you? Do you have a work gene in your DNA? Do you know and accept your limitations? Have you stopped to smell a rose lately? Better yet, every day, schedule some deck time!

DANCE: A dancer from the Kyrenia Youth Centre Association from Northern Cyprus performs during the opening number of a performance at the Chief Joyce Dugan Cultural Arts Center on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 24 as part of Folkmoot’s Cultural Ambassador’s Day.

FAMILY: Will Tushka, an EBCI tribal member, does the Cherokee Frog Dance with his family members.

MC: Eason Esquivel, an EBCI tribal member and recent graduate of Cherokee High School, served as a co-emcee for Tuesday’s event. He also served as a Folkmoot Guide during their various performances. Lisa Spring Wilnoty (background), an EBCI tribal member, serves as Folkmoot’s Cherokee Programs Coordinator and helped organized the event.
GIRLS: Members of the Le Ragazze (the girls) Italiane group perform. The group is based out of Canada but represents Italy.

MUSICIAN: Jarrett Wildcatt, noted EBCI flute player and singer, sings the Cherokee Frog Dance song for the Tushka Family Dancers.

COMEDY: The "Fiesta Mexicana" Ballet Folklorico of Monterrey, also known as BOFOFIM, performed a comedic dance for the crowd.

GRACEFUL: Members of the performing group from the Lampang Kalayanee School in Thailand did a group dance involving elaborate outfits and choreographed moves.
SYLVA - The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill’s Carolina Student Transfer Excellence Program (C-STEP) and Southwestern Community College (SCC) in Sylva are partnering to increase the number of students transferring to and graduating from UNC-Chapel Hill. SCC will be the 11th community college to partner with C-STEP and Carolina.

Through C-STEP, low- and moderate-income high school and community college students who enroll in one of the program’s partner colleges are guaranteed admission to UNC-Chapel Hill if they are first admitted to and successfully complete the community college portion of the program with at least a 3.2 GPA.

“Every day we have the chance to see our students grow and challenge themselves as they build successful lives,” said Dr. Don Tomas, Southwestern Community College president. “The launch of C-STEP at Southwestern Community College will create even more opportunities for our students, their families and our community.”

Now in its 12th year, C-STEP was launched with the support of the Jack Kent Cooke Foundation in an effort to enable more community college students to transfer to and graduate from UNC-Chapel Hill. Almost 800 transfer students enter UNC-Chapel Hill each year, about 33 percent from North Carolina community colleges.

“North Carolina community college transfer students are an amazing group of scholars,” said Rebecca Egbert, C-STEP program director. “Working with Southwestern Community College students as they prepare to come to Carolina and once they’ve arrived in Chapel Hill will be a privilege. These students enrich our campus with their experience, diligence and intelligence.”

Students who participate in C-STEP agree to earn an appropriate associate degree at their partner community college and participate actively in the program, which offers students special events, advising and transition and support services both at their home college and at UNC-Chapel Hill. The program also provides transition and support services once students have enrolled at UNC-Chapel Hill and are pursuing bachelor’s degrees.

Among the communities served by SCC is the Qualla Boundary, home to the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians (EBCI). Members of EBCI participate in many SCC programs and have partnered with SCC and Western Carolina University to develop the Oconaluftee Institute of Cultural Arts on the Qualla Boundary, where students come to study and preserve the artistic traditions of the EBCI community.

“Education is a priority for the Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians and generations of tribal leaders have worked toward that goal,” said Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed. “By collaborating with C-STEP and Southwestern Community College, our students will benefit for years to come.”

C-STEP currently serves almost 845 students; 652 of those have already enrolled at UNC-Chapel Hill and 482 have graduated. The remaining students are expected to enroll after completing their community college courses. As of 2018, the average C-STEP graduate GPA is 3.0. The overall graduation rate is 81 percent.

Other C-STEP partners include: Alamance Community College, Cape Fear Community College, Carteret Community College, Central Carolina Community College, Craven Community College, Durham Technical Community College, Fayetteville Technical Community College, Robeson Community College, Sandhills Community College and Wake Technical Community College.

THANK YOU LETTER
Thank you Yogi Crowe Scholarship

Dear Yogi Crowe Memorial Scholarship Fund,

Thank you for the continued support during my 2018 summer classes of podiatric medical school. I am taking medical microbiology, immunology, pharmacology, and podiatric medicine. Last semester Yogi Crowe funding helped me afford extra expenses not covered by the tribal education funding. Gas and oil changes for my car, apartment utilities (water, electric, recycling, garbage), phone bills, car insurance, White Coat Ceremony arrangements, and academic club dues were all extra expenses that Yogi Crowe funding went toward last semester.

I am starting clinical rotations on Mondays and Tuesdays at various hospitals in the Bay Area and need extra gas and parking funds. Rotations start earlier and end later than my regular classes, so I go out to eat more often because I do not have time to cook. Yogi Crowe is helping me to cover these additional expenses as well.

The funding has helped tremendously and I look forward to giving back in the future.

Sincerely,

Carmen Johnson

Summer Youth College Experience visit to Mars Hill

MARS HILL - The Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians Higher Education & Training office recently partnered with Mars Hill University to offer EBCI Summer Youth College Experience (SYCE) participants a weeklong college immersion experience.

The SYCE participants were provided with student IDs that allowed them entry into the residence halls and dining facilities. They worked with Mars Hill University’s admissions and financial aid counselors to learn the process of applying for admission and financial aid. Students also studied a college preparation curriculum throughout the week, learning about notetaking strategies, time management, study skills, and reading strategies. They also attended college courses in personal finance and health education.

During their visit, the students had the opportunity to speak and interact with current Mars Hill University students and learn more about college life, and to meet the university’s new president, Tony Floyd. Not only did they hit the books, they also participated in several outdoor activities like sand volleyball, making s’mores, and swimming.

Principal Chief Richard G. Sneed stated, “The SCYE is such a tremendous opportunity for our enrolled member students to be able to experience what campus life is going to be like. Secretary of Education Bradley and I both believed that changing the program from basic tours of campuses to an experiential learning opportunity would help better equip our students for their first year on campus. I am very grateful to Mars Hill President Floyd and former President Dan Lunsford and their team for working with us to get this new program launched so quickly.”

EBCI Higher Education & Training officials said, “We would like to thank the Principal Chief’s Office and the Office of the President of Mars Hill University for initiating this important program. We would also like to thank the faculty, staff, and students of Mars Hill for their gracious hospitality. Finally, a special thank you to the parents of the SYCE participants for providing resources and support and for allowing us to provide their children with this on-campus experience.”

The Downtown Motor Speedway

ROBERT JUMPER
ONE FEATHER EDITOR

It’s not a secret. It has been discussed in the Tribal Council Chambers and by the water cooler ad nauseam. People are driving too fast, ignoring speed limit signs and pedestrians in crosswalks. The downtown speed limit is 20 mph. It is common to see vehicles traveling through the downtown area at twice that speed.

The police can’t be everywhere, and they shouldn’t have to be. We are adults, and most of us can read. We read well enough to pass a driver’s license test, and part of that test is reading speed limit signs. And yet, a good many of us continue to blow through town like it is a race track.

As tribal employees, we should be setting the example for our community. But, much too often, some of those vehicles that fly through town have a tribal seal on the side of them. No, they are not emergency vehicles.

We have been fortunate that we have had only a few pedestrian deaths on the Boundary over the recent years, although I doubt that the families that have lost loved ones or suffered injury due to negligent driving feel very fortunate. Our behavior and lack of ability to enforce the established speed limits in town are an accident waiting to happen. As the Tribe continues to look at ways to invigorate the business community and invite Cherokee entrepreneurs and outside companies to fill in those vacant buildings in the downtown, there will be more foot traffic and more potential targets for speeding cars on our roadways.

As part of overall plans for the downtown, there is some discussion on how the traffic might be slowed in that area. Some suggestions include increased signage, speed bumps, and traffic cameras, but those solutions are only visions of what could happen. We need some immediate steps to be taken to prevent tragedies from happening.

The way our downtown is designed, parking spaces along the roadway are such that a vehicle must back into traffic to get into the flow of traffic, creating a limited field of vision for oncoming traffic and unexpected road hazards - one of the reasons for a slow speed limit in town. Another reason that the speed limit is low; our government and community encourage foot traffic in the downtown area to increase business and revenue in our community. We need people to shop in our downtown area. We want to provide a welcoming atmosphere, well, because we are good, hospitable people and it is our way to be courteous. If in the process of being nice, our guests stay longer and shop more, that is a nice fringe benefit. But, I imagine it is difficult to feel welcome when you are dodging two-ton missiles cruising through the downtown to get from one shopping area to another.

The town of Sylva was so concerned about this issue that they re-routed both Main Street and back street traffic to provide for pedestrian safety and safer traffic flow. They effectively turned Main Street into a one-lane road, using the left lane for a pull-out lane for cars parked in front of businesses. The town also has working pedestrian crosswalk signals at each intersection in town.

Our police are dealing with their part of a nationwide drug epidemic, along with many other crimes on our Boundary. It would be a sad commentary and cop-out (pardon the pun) for us if we must pull desperately-needed, highly-trained manpower to babysit the downtown traffic.

Why not ask the tribal leadership to consider and approve the installation of traffic cameras? Smaller municipal budgets than ours have ticketing systems attached to computers and traffic cameras that can automatically identify a tag number and issue a citation. Nearly the entire process is automated. If the Tribe is looking for a revenue stream, money from those citations would add up to a nice chunk of change.

Does that sound extreme to you? Maybe make you a little uncomfortable or angry? I would say that what will be extreme, uneasy and enraging, will be when an innocent child, special needs or elderly person is maimed or mangled by a vehicle driven by a person who is trying to shave a few seconds from their license test, and part of that test is reading speed limit signs. And yet, a good many of us continue to blow through town like it is a race track.

The police can’t be everywhere, and they shouldn’t have to be. We are adults, and most of us can read. We read well enough to pass a driver’s license test, and part of that test is reading speed limit signs. And yet, a good many of us continue to blow through town like it is a race track.

As tribal employees, we should be setting the example for our community. But, much too often, some of those vehicles that fly through town have a tribal seal on the side of them. No, they are not emergency vehicles.

We have been fortunate that we have had only a few pedestrian deaths on the Boundary over the recent years, although I doubt that the families that have lost loved ones or suffered injury due to negligent driving feel very fortunate. Our behavior and lack of ability to enforce the established speed limits in town are an accident waiting to happen. As the Tribe continues to look at ways to invigorate the business community and invite Cherokee entrepreneurs and outside companies to fill in those vacant buildings in the downtown, there will be more foot traffic and more potential targets for speeding cars on our roadways.

As part of overall plans for the downtown, there is some discussion on how the traffic might be slowed in that area. Some suggestions include increased signage, speed bumps, and traffic cameras, but those solutions are only visions of what could happen. We need some immediate steps to be taken to prevent tragedies from happening.

The way our downtown is designed, parking spaces along the roadway are such that a vehicle must back into traffic to get into the flow of traffic, creating a limited field of vision for oncoming traffic and unexpected road hazards - one of the reasons for a slow speed limit in town. Another reason that the speed limit is low; our government and community encourage foot traffic in the downtown area to increase business and revenue in our community. We need people to shop in our downtown area. We want to provide a welcoming atmosphere, well, because we are good, hospitable people and it is our way to be courteous. If in the process of being nice, our guests stay longer and shop more, that is a nice fringe benefit. But, I imagine it is difficult to feel welcome when you are dodging two-ton missiles cruising through the downtown to get from one shopping area to another.

The town of Sylva was so concerned about this issue that they re-routed both Main Street and back street traffic to provide for pedestrian safety and safer traffic flow. They effectively turned Main Street into a one-lane road, using the left lane for a pull-out lane for cars parked in front of businesses. The town also has working pedestrian crosswalk signals at each intersection in town.

Our police are dealing with their part of a nationwide drug epidemic, along with many other crimes on our Boundary. It would be a sad commentary and cop-out (pardon the pun) for us if we must pull desperately-needed, highly-trained manpower to babysit the downtown traffic.

Why not ask the tribal leadership to consider and approve the installation of traffic cameras? Smaller municipal budgets than ours have ticketing systems attached to computers and traffic cameras that can automatically identify a tag number and issue a citation. Nearly the entire process is automated. If the Tribe is looking for a revenue stream, money from those citations would add up to a nice chunk of change.

Does that sound extreme to you? Maybe make you a little uncomfortable or angry? I would say that what will be extreme, uneasy and enraging, will be when an innocent child, special needs or elderly person is maimed or mangled by a vehicle driven by a person who is trying to shave a few seconds from their license test.
on, their commute or is rushing to get their family to the restaurant or Island Park.

I get that most of us have gone through the Jeff Gordon driving school and think our reflexes and razor-sharp minds are so good that we can maneuver obstacles and stop on a dime. But, what if we are wrong just one time and we seriously injure or kill someone? It can happen. It has happened; right here on the Boundary. And, two sets of families get to live with the consequences of our ineptitude when a tragedy happens - the family of the person in front of the vehicle and the family of the person behind the wheel.

No meeting, meal, or vacation is worth risking the possibility of hurting or killing another person. If you must, make apologies and take the consequences of being late. You will sleep much better doing that than having to live with the consequences of a death caused by your negligence. Slow down.

EDITORIAL: Slow down, from page 20

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) There might still be some uncertainty about the decision you made. But a quick check of the facts should reassure you that you’re doing the right thing.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The tidy Taurean needs to be a little more flexible about accepting some changes to those carefully made plans. You might be pleasantly surprised by what follows.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Consider stepping away from your concentrated focus on your new project for a bit so you can get some perspective on what you’ve done and where you plan to take it.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The understandably angry Crab might not want to accept the reason why someone might have tried to hurt you. But at least you’ll have an insight into why it happened.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) There might be some facts you still need to know before leaping onto center stage. Best to move carefully at this time so that you can observe what’s happening around you.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) It’s a good time to expand your outlook by getting out and around, whether you do some long-range traveling or just explore the great things to see closer to home.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your wise counsel continues to be needed as that family situation works itself out. Meanwhile, the decisions you made on your job begin to pay off quite nicely.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your job situation brightens thanks to all your hard work. Now, spend some time repairing a personal relationship you might have neglected for too long.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Aspects favor action in the workplace. Line up your facts and show your superiors why you’re the one they’re looking for.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your hard work pays off on the job. Personal relationships also can benefit from more of your time and attention. Spend the weekend with loved ones.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Early feedback on your project might be disappointing. But don’t be discouraged. Use it to make needed adjustments, then submit to your superiors again.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Flattery could lure the otherwise sensible Fish into making an unwisely decision. Be careful. All that praise might be an attempt to reel you in before you can learn the facts.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a wonderful sense of who you are. You are a shining example to others, helping them believe in themselves and what they can do.
